Aisha,

Am following up on this.

What's adeem's email?

I don't want to drag you into the legal mess but I will not have a choice since you are the source of the communications.

Aisha,

I was made aware that you guys launched a matchmaking service (<https://singlemuslimvip.com>), while that's wonderful, I like to remind that an NDA was signed and its binding of non-compete for period of time. The site should be shut down immediately.

Let Adeem know that besides the breach of the contract, it is simply unethical and very ill business practice.

In the event you all fail to comply, we will take legal action and also make this a public knowledge for the community to be aware of.

It's very sad and disheartening that you guys would just turn around and use the insights to spin up your own company that competes directly with BChai.

This email hereby is a formal communication and you have 3 business days to respond and comply.
