

Asalaam Alaikum,

My name is Amina Afreen. Yes, I have two first names and if I had a choice to decide which name would take precedence, it would be my last name. Not because Ustad Nusrat Fateh Ali Khan made that name oh-so-famous with its legendary ghazal (I tend to get bit happy listening to it), but this name was chosen by my Nana and Dada collectively.

Basics I am 37 years young with all 5'2 of Hyderabadiness. Born in India, moved to Oman when I was 2, and finally making it to U-S-A in 1998 with my family. Divorcee. Marriage of 6-months that ended in October 2011. Country of Citizenship: USA	Education & Work Bachelor of Arts in Biology, Temple University Completed Project Management Certification from Villanova University Currently interviewing for a job	Family My family consists of my parents, 2 brothers (married) and 1 sister (married). I am also blessed with 2 nieces who allow me to carry the title of Phuppo (aunt) with great honor and love. Besides my immediate family, I have a close-knit set of cousins that hold a special place in my life.
INFP-T Mediator I would like to say I have transitioned from an extrovert to introvert (maybe I'm an ambivert) during the pandemic but the components of INFP personality, especially the Mediator, remains true.	Leisure Activities <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Cleaning: I find any type of cleaning very therapeutic and this activity of mine has been utilized and well-received by my family.• Home Reno. Work: I take on Home Renovation projects to direct the effects of stress into something productive. My family has a love/hate relationship with my de-stressing methods.• Cooking: Due to the lockdown, I discovered I can easily follow recipes and execute them on first attempt.• Shayari (Urdu poetry): Not all leisure activities benefit my family. I also dabble into reading and writing shayari and take inspirations from Ghazal giants like Allama Iqbal, Rahat Indori, Faiz Ahmed, etc.• Music: I am avid listener of original music scores, artists doing covers of famous songs, instrumental music, and EDM.
Matters of the Heart Islamically, I follow the Hanafi Madhab. Besides maintaining and performing my obligatory parts of my faith, I enthusiastically strive to be a better person and learn and implement more of the religious practices (Sunnah acts), such as dhikr. I also listen to lectures by Omar Suleiman and read up on articles posted on Yaqeen Institute .

Serious Matter:

The above blurb just gives you a glimpse of my personality. It's easy to make me happy because I tend to see the good things in everything and everyone. Faith, Family, Friends, and Food are my constant companions. With that being said, I am divorcee, and my previous marriage has taught me many truths, bitter yet helpful truths about life. I do not regret my decision when I got married and I don't regret my decision when I got divorced, all thanks to the All-Knower for being the constant in my life. There is a beautiful saying by Rumi on how each event in your life is a step towards enlightenment of your soul, 'If you are irritated by every rub, how will your mirror be polished?'

Future Spouse:

How do I know what kind of man will be best for me? Of course, I can go ahead and describe all the traits and physical attributes I want in my spouse but what is best for me is in the hands of The All-Mighty. I find small acts of kindness very endearing and telling of someone's personality.

Understand that mutual attraction of mind, soul, and body cements the foundation of a marriage. But I will leave this section with these parting words:

Accept me for who I am and what I have as I continuously strive to become a better version of myself because when I meet you, I'll meet you with the best of intentions and care.
